About This Course

This course is designed for those starting their journey as internal quality assurance practitioners or those who need to know about internal quality assurance but are not carrying out quality assurance themselves.

This qualification is ideal for three types of learners;

- Those looking to start a career as an IQA, starting with the internal quality assurance of predominantly theory-based qualifications.
- Those who require an understanding of the processes involved in internal quality assurance, but are not required to apply this knowledge in a practical manner; such as assessors or administration staff.
- Those who have previously completed the D34 or V1, to provide valuable continuing professional development (CPD) by updating and refreshing theoretical understanding in line with current standards and regulatory requirements.

For those practitioners who conduct internal quality assurance of the assessment process from within a centre/organisation, by sample planning, monitoring and advising on the practice of assessors, the appropriate qualification is the Level 4 Award in Internal Quality Assurance of Assessment Processes and Practice, which includes both knowledge and practical elements.

What Will I Study?
